Identify Content with Existing Authority

⚠️ Complete the Click Through Rate \(CTR\) Analysis lesson first and export your internal_all file from Screaming Frog.

Google recognizes domains as authorities on specific topics. When you publish new content within your established expertise areas, it inherits your existing authority and ranks faster – no waiting months for aging or heavy backlink investment.

Example: If Google trusts you on "vintage car restoration," new content about "classic car paint techniques" will rank quickly. This is topical relevance in action.

Find Content Opportunities with ChatGPT

The "Almost Winners" Strategy

Maximize what you already have before creating something new. This approach delivers the fastest results.

Focus on pages ranking in positions 11-30 (pages 2-3).

These pages are golden because Google already trusts them, and small improvements to these pages can 10x traffic. Plus, they're proven to already have some relevance.

Step 1: Find Your Targets

Using Ahrefs, Semrush, or Search Console:

- Filter for positions 11-30
- Sort by search volume
- Look for reasonable difficulty scores

Step 2: Evaluate Each Opportunity

Check:

- Current traffic (low = safer to optimize)
- Keyword difficulty (lower = easier wins)
- Search volume (higher = more potential)
- Intent alignment (can your page satisfy searchers?)

Step 3: Optimization Plan

1. Expand content depth with AI

4. Build 1-2 quality backlinks

Quick Implementation

Create a simple spreadsheet:

- Target URL
- Current position
- Target keyword
- Current vs. potential traffic
- Priority level

This becomes your roadmap for quick wins in the first 60 days.

✖ ✖ ✖ Don't:

- Over-optimize pages already getting traffic
- Ignore search intent
- Manually request re-crawls
- Sacrifice readability for keywords

✓ ✓ ✓ Do:

- Focus on truly underperforming pages
- Always improve content quality
- Let backlinks trigger natural re-crawls
