How to Audit a GBP Landing Page

In this lesson, I walk through our complete GBP landing page audit process using the same real client (RightWay Driving School). Important note: we don't rewrite GBP landing pages with a single AI prompt—that's not how we do it. Instead, we audit systematically and make targeted improvements.

What you'll learn:

- NAP consistency checks: Verifying that name, address, and phone number exactly match the GBP, appear on the landing page, and are included in the footer
- Schema markup validation: Using the structured data testing tool to check for local business schema, website schema, and organization schema (most sites are missing all of these)
- Title tag & H1 optimization: Why your title tag and primary heading need to include both your primary category AND city name

Overview

- The biggest mistake local businesses make: Writing content about themselves instead of talking to the searcher. Searchers care about themselves, not about you—your content needs to address why YOU are the right choice for THEM
- Goal completion above the fold: Why the hero image shouldn't take up the entire screen, and what elements need to appear immediately—unique value props, differentiators, guarantees, success rates, and review embeds
- Real-world example: Breaking down why Zell & Associates ranks #1 for "personal injury lawyer Houston"—small hero image, immediate proof points ("undefeated, billions won"), and testimonials right up front
- Secondary category & service H2s: Adding content sections for secondary categories and core services WITHOUT deleting existing content that's already working

The key takeaway: we're not rebuilding pages from scratch. We identify what's missing, what's weak, and make strategic additions while preserving what's already ranking.

- Title tag includes primary category
- Title tag includes city name
- H1 includes city name
- H1 includes descriptive text (not just business name)

Above the Fold Optimization

- Hero image small enough to see content below on page load
- Unique value proposition visible immediately
- Differentiators/guarantees/success rates mentioned
- Content speaks to the searcher (not about the business)

Content & Structure

- Local "about" content present
- Review embeds placed prominently (near top of page)
- H2s for secondary categories present
- H2s for core services present
- Content talks to the searcher, not about the business

Before Making Changes

- Run RankMap to check current rankings
- Plan to insert new content above existing content (don't delete what's working)
- Confirm secondary categories with client before adding content
